W. Side, Seton, Dover capture state cross-country crowns

Irvington's Gilleece 1st in Group 4

Hands 1st loss to Hockaday of Rough Riders

By DAVID MILLER

ELIABETH—West Side High of Newark, a virtual newcomer to the state's select group of top-ranking cross-country teams, climaxed its first perfect campaign on record yesterday by scoring a major surprise in capturing the Group 4 championship of the N.J.S.I.A.A.'s 13th annual cross-country meet at Warinanco Park.

The West Siders, spearheaded by Walt Hockaday in the No. 2 spot, placed three men in the top 10 to edge the defending champion, Dickinson of Jersey City, by the slim margin of nine points. Hockaday, Newark city and Essex county titlist, suffered his first defeat of the year in following unheralded Pete Gilleece of Irvington to the tape.

In the Catholic schools' division, Seton Hall High of South Orange, with practically no opposition, successfully defended its crown by placing eight men in the first nine and gave Essex County its second team title of the day.

GILLEECE A NEWCOMER

Dover, Morris County champion, had plenty of competition from the surprisingly-strong Lower Camden County Regional in combined Groups 1-2-3, but won out, 68-75. Eugene Fekete of Camden, the only defending titlist entered, showed his victory last year was no fluke, touring the tricky 2½-mile course in 12:57.7, an all-time record for the present layout.

Gilleece's upset victory came as a fitting close to the most meteoric rise ever accomplished by a North Jersey athlete. A senior out for the team for the first time, Gilleece had only a county novice title to his credit this year.

In the Essex meet a week ago, the diminutive Gilleece extended Hockaday for most of the way, but then fell back to 13th. Yesterday, however, Gilleece met Hockaday on even terms. He matched strides with the lanky West Sider for exactly half of the race, and fell behind by only a step or two in the next half mile.

HOCKADAY JOGS IN

But with a quarter of a mile to go, Gilleece poured on the heat, catching Hockaday and temporarily taking the lead about halfway around the Stadium track. Although Hockaday had the inside, Gilleece was unbeatable on the flat terrain. Nearly 200 yards from the finish, Hockaday, his wind spent, stopped running and jogged in the rest of the way, finishing 100 yards behind Gilleece.

Hockaday's fine performance, though, gave Coach Charlie Hartzell's West Side outfit enough of a cushion for the team triumph. Dorsey Jackson's ninth-place finish and Bob Barden's 10th-place showing were the deciding factors in the Newarkers' 64 point effort. Bob Puglisi, 20th, and Ed Vogel, 23rd, were the other West Side scorers.

The unprecedented timing by Fekete shattered two existing records—the state meet mark and the ordinary Warinanco record. Fekete, a bespectacled junior who already holds a half dozen South Jersey championships, eclipsed the state low of 13:03, turned in by another Lower Camden County Regional athlete, Phil Stillwell, in 1944.

Dick Zoleny of Nutley, with 12:58 in a dual meet two years ago, had previously held the all-time course mark. Fekete made his bid for retention of the title in the first 200 yards of the race, setting his own pace the rest of the way to win without difficulty. He led Jack Lansing of Dover to the finish line by more than 230 yards.

Seton Hall swept the top five spots in winning the Catholic diadem with ease. Gerald McGee, touring the course in 13:22.9, blazed the way for his team's victory,

HILL AND DALE—To the victor belongs the spoils and Pete Gilleece of Irvington High gets a big hug from team manager June Wilson (only girl to fill that position in the state) after Gilleece had won the Group 4 state cross-country title yesterday. The Group 4 field is shown below getting off at the start. At upper right is Eugene Fekete of Lower Camden Regional, who won the Groups 1, 2 and 3 division title for the second straight year.

Irish smother Carolina, 42-6, on late scores later in the third, to move the score up to 15-6. Carolina held briefly, but the handwriting was on the wall of the Yankee Stadium—and the tiring team could read it plainly.

The management turned on the lights at the beginning of the fourth period (it was 3:27 and it had been deep dusk since 3 o'clock) — and Notre Dame rolled on to 27 points in this final chapter of the game.

Williams' pass to Hart, and Hart's repeat job on a lateral to Barrett, set up the first of the four Irish touchdowns of the fourth period. A Williams pass to Spaniel in the end zone climaxed it.

North Carolina staggered back in an effort to stem the tide, but a pass by hard-hitting Billy Hayes of Arlington, Va., plumped into the welcoming arms of Mike Swistowicz on Notre Dame's 16. Mike headed for the sidelines, picked up a good ton of blockers, and went 84 yards to the end zone.

BARRETT SCORES AGAIN

With five minutes to go, Williams, behind perfect protection, bided his time until Barrett got up sufficient momentum. Then he threw a superb, lazy lob to the fleeing Notre Dame back, who pushed the opposition out of the way and caught it in the end zone. It was Williams' second touchdown pass of the game; Barrett's second touchdown.

The last score came with two minutes to play when John Mazur of Plymouth, Pa., passed to Barrett, a 19-yard play climaxed when Barrett fought his way over the goal to score for the third time.

A torrid flat-fight broke out among perhaps six rivals in midfield immediately after the scoring of the final touchdown. Frank Leahy, Notre Dame coach, helped to break it up.

Red Arrow loser on split decision

BROOKLYN (AP)—Andy De Paul, 155, Pittsburgh, took a split decision last night from Chief Red Arrow

60 will start in road run here today

More than sixty will toe the starting line today in the National AAU 25-Kilometer road run, which is being conducted by the Jersey A. C. Mayor Ralph Villani, who is donating a trophy to the winner, will start the field on its way at 2 p.m. from the St. Joseph's Club, 145 Hudson st.

Vic Drygall of the Millrose A. A., who has won every AAU title from 10 to 26 miles in the past two years, has been accorded the role of favorite. Drygall captured the Newark Marathon last spring.

From Boston will come two standouts who are expected to furnish Drygall with his toughest competition. One is John Kelley, 42-year old veteran. Kelley, three-time winner of the Boston Marathon and last year's victor in the National AAU Marathon, was a member of the U. S. Olympic teams of 1936 and 1948.

The other lad from Boston is Lou White, noted Negro runner. White and Drygall have encountered each other several times in competition, and provided plenty of thrills for the spectators. White, in most instances, ran second.

Dan Van Dorp of Union, Paul Sadowski of Irvington and Bill Clark of Lyndhurst comprise the Jersey delegation.

Kramer beats Gonzales at Seton Hall

By SHELDON WOOL

Lean Jack Kramer, the world's greatest tennis player, and Richard (Pancho) Gonzales, the man who is trying to take that distinction away from him, brought their trans-continental road show to Seton Hall College last night, and Kramer emerged with an 11-9, 6-2 triumph.

Seton Hall is becoming a lucky court for big Jake. Last year, after trailing in his early matches with Bobby Riggs, Kramer went into the lead for the first time, five matches to four, by winning at Seton, and never was behind after that. Last night's conquest was the 10th in the series for Kramer against three for Pancho.

If nothing else, they can stop calling Gonzales the "lazy man of tennis." Pancho ran his head off last night trying to keep up with Kramer's blistering pace. Gonzales seldom tried as hard in the amateur ranks, but Kramer's experience was just too much for him.

The match featured fireball tennis all the way, with both players frequent service aces. Gonzales had the edge in the ace department, but was erratic with his serve, while Jack was the tennis player at perfection.

In the endurance first heat, each player made a service break early in the match and then settled down to hold his deliveries. In the 19th game, however, Kramer broke through after three deuces when Gonzales made a couple of errors. Kramer took a 4-0 lead in the second set and promptly ran out the match.

In a hard-fought preliminary, Frankie Parker made it three in a row over Francisco (Pancho Segura) 2-6, 9-7, 6-2. Segura, the Latin with the two-fisted forehand, looked sharp in the early play but wilted under Parker's persistent attack.

Hospital still lists Kiphuth in danger

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Robert J. H. Kiphuth, Yale's famed swimming coach and athletic director, remained on the New Haven Hospital's danger list yesterday.

The 59-year-old Kiphuth collapsed Thursday afternoon while playing handball in Payne Whitney Gymnasium.
